MORRISTOWN, NJ OFFICE

Why are you affiliated with several different hospitals and surgery centers?

Taking care of the spine is frequently a team related approach. By working at several different institutions, I have the luxury of working with and referring my patients to the best pain doctors, therapists, chiropractors, medical doctors, etc. A patient can be assured that our affiliated care givers have been chosen because they're the best and not because of their affiliations or some other political reason.

What are the advantages of Minimally Invasive Surgery?

- less pain
- shorter hospital stays
- frequently done as outpatient
- less blood loss
- faster recovery to normal
- less scar tissue
- less tissue damage

How did you develop a World-Renowned reputation?

I've always worked hard to be the best at what I do and have trained at the top spine surgery institutions in the world. That commitment didn't end after a decade at Harvard, but continues today where I regularly travel to work with the best spine surgeons around the world. This allows me to constantly perfect my skills and knowledge. My commitment to excellence has brought me professional athletes, celebrities, political leaders and referrals from doctors around the world. My reputation has developed after 2 decades of excellent patient outcomes.

If Minimally Invasive Spine Surgery is so much better than open surgery, why doesn't everyone do it?

To master the many different Minimally Invasive Techniques, it takes years of commitment to courses, lab work and time away from your practice. Many physicians don't have the time to learn these techniques. It's also important to note that some procedures can't be done through less invasive approaches and you want to know that your surgeon is well trained in the different options. You can be assured at New York City Spine Surgery PLLC that our commitment is always being the best and most educated in these areas.
